

Chinese Medical Obstetrics

A Three-Day TCM Obstetrics Intensive Course November 9, 10, 11, 2007

Robert Flaws,
O.M.D.

Bob Flaws is one of the best known Western teachers and authors of Traditional Chinese Medicine (TCM) in the West. Bob has written, edited, or translated over 60 books and scores of articles on Chinese medicine over the last 17 years. He has taught at acupuncture and TCM schools and colleges all over the world and his books have been translated into several other languages.

Bob has served as president of the Acupuncture Association of Colorado, as a board member for the National Academy of Acupuncture & Oriental Medicine, as a founding member of the Council of Oriental Medical Publishers, and president of Blue Poppy Press, Inc.

If you want to work with pregnant and post-partum women patients and would like to feel confident every time you make a diagnosis and create a treatment plan, you want to attend this course taught by one of the pre-eminent practitioners of Chinese medicine in the West today. Author or editor of over 80 books on Chinese medicine and a specialist in gynecology for more than 20 years, Bob Flaws has taught gynecology to hundreds of practitioners during his more than 25 years in practice. In this four day intensive training, Bob will cover the disease causes and mechanisms, pattern discrimination, Chinese herbal and acupuncture treatment of 32 conditions encountered during gestation and birthing and 34 conditions encountered during postpartum recuperation in great depth.

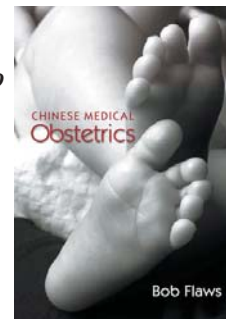

Bob's program also includes:

- Case history problem-based-learning examples that we will solve together in class
- Special clinical tips and information on important medicinals and acupoints from Bob's personal clinical experience
- Cautions or danger signs that every practitioner of Chinese medical obstetrics needs to know
- Ample time for questions and answers as well as at least one live intake during the class.

Don't miss this opportunity to learn from one of the best teachers of Chinese medicine in the West.

Note: This program is designed for practitioners who have completed their entry-level studies in Chinese medicine, including materia medica, and are currently in clinical practice. Because Chinese gynecology is a subdivision of internal medicine, this program is oriented toward the practice of Chinese herbal medicine as its principal modality. While we'll discuss acupuncture and its role in the treatment of gynecological diseases, students in this program need to have a background in basic Chinese herbal medicine, including materia medica and an essential repertoire of 70-80 herbal formulas.
